Dear City Council Members,

I am concerned about the direction the City Council is taking. We are now considering national security weapons options. Are you, as a city council, informed enough to make a decision regarding our national security? Where do you get your expertise from? I would like to see this debated before we jump on board with someone's opinion. You are representing the entire city, not just your own political agenda. I am all for peace in the world, but we can't let nefarious nations become more powerful while we remove important options. Let's worry about issues that a city can actually control. You were not elected to be our representatives on national security.
